

Art Therapy & the Creative Process

2 Dates are offered

Saturday 16, 23 & 30 September
(Time : 2 - 6pm) or

Friday 3 & 10 November 2017
(Time : 10am - 5pm)

This course is beneficial for those interested in finding out about art as a therapeutic method for their personal or professional development. It will be specially useful for counsellors, social workers, psychologists and those who are thinking of art therapy as a possible career.

Clinical case examples will be presented and you will be guided through hands-on art therapy exercises for a deeper understanding and experience of what is taught. For more info see www.joannatan.com

WHAT PARTICIPANTS HAVE SAID

"Opened up many thoughts and considerations on the use of art in therapy. Joanna is very passionate, knowledgeable and wise about art therapy, its usage and practice." Pastoral Care Leader

"Presenter is respectful and demonstrates good deal of counseling experience. Recommended for counselors." Head Counsellor

"Joanna makes us think not only for our work but also our journey. This is important for us as social workers and counselors." Case Mgt Officer

"The lecturer was extremely good. The whole course was very useful both personally and professionally." Counsellor

"I enjoyed the experiential segment in each lesson. Joanna is very knowledgeable in the subject area and illustrated concepts with real artwork and case studies." Social worker

"The practical activities brought a self awareness / discovery that is not possible through lectures." Teacher
